By Shi Ye

On 17 May 2001, in the 1.31 million three gorges migrants move, at Chongqing to Nantong course Hubei section, a baby girl was born...reporter of Nantong Daily Wang Guangxiang caught the scoop. Up to now 20 years have passed. 'I was born on the migration course from Chongqing Yunyang to Ji-angsu Nantong, so I was named Yang Yusu. I am 20 years old!' in august, at a brand new two storey house in Xiwu village, Shuangdian town, Rudong, student of Ji-angsu Shipping College Yang Yusu said. People who migrated to Nantong together with her, are 662 households of three gorges project rural migrants from Yunyang county, Wanzhou district, Chongqing. There are in total 2867 people. In the past few years, how was their life? In hot summer, we started an investigation. 'No waiting and no reliance, migrate actively,' this is the main theme of three gorges migrants' life and work in Nantong in the past 20 years. Research and investigation of Nantong water-control bureau showed that work and life of three gorges migrants are stable generally, life condition is similar to local people and they have fitted in the community.

On 7 August, 18-year-old blind student Cheng Ying received a letter of admission from music course of special education college of Beijing Union University, and became the first student who was admitted to music bachelor course in the more than one hundred years history since Nantong special education center was founded. On 7 August, 18-year-old blind graduate

Cheng Ying of technical secondary school of Nantong special education center reported the good news to 102-year-old Zhang Rouwu by online video conference. Zhang Rouwu is the granddaughter of top one scholar of late Qing dynasty, famous entrepreneur in modern China and educator Zhang Jian. In 1916, Zhang Jian established Nantong school for the deaf and dumb (the precursor of Nantong special education center). Since 1992, there have been 192 disabled students who were admitted to universities. On 3 July 2003, Cheng Ying was born in a common farmers' family in group 8, Zaojia village, Dagong town, Hai'an. 'On the day when my son was born, we found that his eyes had problems.' Cheng Ying's father Cheng Suhua recalled that the doctor said the child's eyes had congenital dysplasia – total blindness. By chance, Cheng Ying's mother Xu Dongmei heard that there was a special education school in Nantong where blind students can study. In September 2009, Cheng Ying entered blind class of Nantong special education center. Cheng Ying studied erhu after music teacher Chu Xin from Hai'an. He is the first blind student of Chu. 'Ying learnt erhu after me since 8 years old, up to now 10 years have passed.' Chu Xin said that Ying was gifted and no less than the healthy children who study erhu. President of Hulusi Bawu ocarina society of Nantong musician association Huang Yaling is a part time counsellor of the special education center. She has instructed blind students of hulusi society of the school to learn hulusi for seven years. Cheng Ying said that Chu Xin and Huang Yaling were like lanterns which lit up the way to music for him.
